The Big Idea:

We deal with shame and guilt by receiving, then reflecting, and returning God’s honour:

His glorious love and faithfulness to us in Jesus.

Dealing with Shame & Guilt

‘Sin produces in us two awful tumors: guilt, and shame.’

‘[Guilt and shame are] the children of humanity. They cling tightly to our side. They will not easily be shooed away...We would love to part with them. But they won’t leave us alone.’

Dealing with Shame & Guilt

‘Shame is a focus on self, guilt is a focus on behavior. Shame is “I am bad.” Guilt is “I did something bad.” Shame is highly correlated with addiction, depression, violence...[etc.] Guilt is inversely correlated with those things. It’s incredibly adaptive.’

Brené Brown

‘In an increasingly violent society where external controls are breaking down, shame may be the best hope...because it is the ultimate internal control.’

Joe Roberts

‘No audience is needed for feelings of guilt...not so for shame. Shame requires disapproval or ridicule by others.’

Paul Ekman

One can certainly feel shame when alone – that is, shame does not require an actual observer or audience.’

Dealing with Shame & Guilt

In Psychology:
Guilt occurs whenever an internalized moral boundary is touched or transgressed, and is accompanied by the fear of punishment.

Shame occurs when an ideal sense of self fails to be reached, and is accompanied by the fear of exclusion or rejection

‘Guilt: I’m sorry, I made a mistake. Shame: I’m sorry, I am a mistake.’
Brené Brown
Dealing with Shame & Guilt

In Anthropology:
A guilt culture relies on an internalized [individual] conviction of sin.

A shame culture relies on external sanctions, for good behavior.

The Bible as a Shame Culture Document?

‘[Jesus] endured the cross, scorning its shame.’
Heb 12:2

‘ So whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do it all for the honour [glory] of God.’
1 Cor 10:31
Dealing with Shame & Guilt

Gains in Psychology
- Emotions are complex, powerful, but neglected
- Distinction between act & being can be helpful

Dangers in Psychology
- Definitions are confused
- Leads to contradictions, logical gaps & unusability

More Gains in Psychology
- Shame is morally neutral
- Whether it is good or bad/helpful or detrimental depends on the reasons/values behind the shaming
Dealing with Shame & Guilt

‘[Shame can be seen as] as a full-blown virtue, as long as we endorse...the values that sustain it.’ Deonna et al.

BUT...

It’s the same with guilt

And honour
Dealing with Shame & Guilt

Gains in Anthropology
- Honour is very important for people across the world
- Concern for social relns in honour cultures matches Bible
- Helps with cross-cultural engagement with honour cultures

Dangers in Anthropology
- Definitions are confused & prove the opposite point!
- I should’t have done that vs I shouldn’t have done that

More Gains in Anthropology
- PCR is helpful for knowing what honour is in different contexts
- ALL cultures are both shame & guilt cultures, including us!

Putting Things Back Together: A More Consistent Model

- Honour = the ideal value in a situation
- Shame = the failure of an ideal
