Anthony Hordern's' for Everyman's Encyclopaedia

The publishers of Everyman's Encyclopaedia claim that, in spite of the many other works of a similar character that are now upon the market, their new production will supply a long-felt want. Unveiled to the world as the most comprehensive and complete work of its kind, the book has already established itself as the standard authority on a vast range of subjects. Its editors have spared no effort to make it a work of the highest and latest information. It is uniform in size, binding and typography with the Library. Each volume contains 480 pages, comprising over 500,000 words, so that the full set of twelve volumes covers more than six million words.

THE CHURCH RECORD.

February 4, 1916.

Current Topics.

We suppose that on Sunday next, in the coming year, the Church will be turned to the First Christian Mission. For Australia and New Zealand.

The National Church of Jesus Christ is getting back again to the Apostolic type of working. A great spiritual movement is being organized and prepared for in the Church itself. "The Lord's incomparables" realize the need that exists of deepening in the spiritual life of the Church its connexions with its contemporaries, that so an effectual witness may be borne, and effective intervention may prevail in furtherance of a great consecration of the Nation's life.

The First Christian Mission. For Australia and New Zealand.

For which many are praying; and we hope that the coming year will see an accomplished fact of which we are faithfu/. Among the latest evidences in this direction is the publication of two little booklets, the voices of the greatest value, both of which should have thousands of readers.

The Archdeacon of Canterbury in a Foreword, says: "No day passes without some special faith is meant by God's strength, guidance and引导 the vanguard of spiritual cravings and aspirations which are at an hour without parallel in the history of land or of the world." The book itself includes contributions from various writers, including the Bishop of Durban and Sydney. The book, already its pages are being prayerfully scanned by many readers in Australia; and we believe it will do much to create that atmosphere of prayer and expectation which will from our side and the other, for the way of showers of spiritual blessing.

The Coming Revival.

The book is entitled "God's people ready to co-operate with Him?" This is indeed a resonating question, and one with which all ought to face. The Lord will no longer be satisfied with anything less than the complete submission of our wills, and in this God's people must be prepared for a new obedience, a stern preparation for a new life, and every word of His Spirit will be fulfilled. For Australia and New Zealand.

The Lord's people in this time of crisis, are waiting to follow Him. This is indeed a resonating question, and one with which all ought to face. Church by many of their clergy and has had an immense share in the work. We have complete Sunday closing, and other valuable restrictions.

The Church should zealously care for the souls of its young men, whose thoughts and actions, in many cases, are very perilous. The influence of the young schoolboy extends as far as the grave. We are told that in some schools the young schoolboy is a danger to the boys of the senior class and that he is a special blessing to the boys of the junior class.

Should not the Church do something to prevent this from happening? It is our duty to care for the souls of our young men. The Church, therefore, should act to prevent this from happening.

The main topic of The Clearer is on "Literary Defence," which is a science of increasing their circuses, with a view to the destruction of the old, and to bring to them the earnest, and to allow their children to take its place. We have also received Arrow, News to The Channelman and with the coming National Mission to Uganda, and with its decision of the Archbishop of Canterbury to adopt the "Authority of the Christian Ministry," as the Christ's Church, not to be taken lightly, is considered as the means by which the Church can be raised to a higher and better level, and to secure the welfare of the Church. Among the books of the Church of England, adopted by the Church Missionary Society, the following have been used in the Missionary work:

"The Songs of a Sentimental Bloke," by A. C. Paterson, received from George Robertson. It has made a great impression. It is often mentioned as the date, and the Bishop of Grafton has been taken much to heart, and Mr. Allen's health is at least noticeable in our opinion the most dangerous of all the illustrations. It has been strongly recommended. We can only say that it will be a valuable book, and that the whole of the proceeds of our copies will be used for the benefit of the Church Missionary Society.

The Ministry of Home.

Sir,—I wish to refer to the Circular on Prizes for the Ministry of Home, a copy of which has been sent me this week. I have also seen the newspaper account of the opening of the new Home in December, and I am glad to see that the Home is a success. The Home is well equipped, and I am sure that it will be a great benefit to the people of the area. I should like to see the Home continue to flourish, and for the Government to continue to give it the necessary support. The Home is a fitting tribute to the memory of the many brave men who have given their lives for their country. I am sure that the Home will continue to be a monument to the sacrifice of those who have fought and died for their country.

Yours faithfully,

The King’s School and the War

Rear-Admiral Sir Daniel Beatty, in a letter to the Secretary of State for War, has said that the King’s School and the War are bound up together. He said that the King’s School was originally established in 1840, and that it had always been a place of education and training for the young men of the country. He said that the King’s School had always been a place of learning and progress, and that it was now more important than ever. He said that the King’s School was a place of honor and distinction, and that it was a place of pride for the country. He said that the King’s School was a place of great importance, and that it was a place of great honor.

The Church Record.

FEBRUARY 4, 1916.

The FIRST CHRISTIAN SERVICE.

The first Sunday in February is one which ought to be observed in every parish throughout Australia, in commemoration of the First Christian Service held in this land on February 3, 1788. As we address ourselves to the work of the Church in our community, we are well aware that much depends on the consecration with which the people respond to the claims of Christianity. The results of the struggle which we are engaged in are likely to be determined by the attitude of the people towards Christianity.

The Commonwealth of Australia owes its existence to the Church. This has been recognised by more than one competent historical observer. The educational achievements of the Church have been considerable. The Church established the first Day Schools, in Sydney, and for two generations, the Church did yeoman service in education.

Another item to the credit of the Church is the splendid, energetic work done by many of the clergy in following the settlers into the bush. Their journeys were almost impossible in extent and peril in the days when railways were not built and roads were few. They helped to keep the fast spreading settlements in touch with civilisation.

The moral influence of the clergy was far more effective than any police in suppressing the evil doers. It is by the elevation of the people and the winning of the converts that the Church will be judged.

The Church will be the true foster mother of the Australian Commonwealth.

Universal day of Prayer for Students

The following Call for the Observance of the Universal Day of Prayer for Students was circulated in October:

To all the Students of the World’s Christian Church Federation and all who are interested in the religious welfare of the young generation:

On Thursday, February 16, let us give our best to promote the observance of the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. This day is designated as the birthday of the Christian Student Movement. Since its beginning in 1913, it has grown in importance and influence, and has become a powerful force in the world’s Christian Church Federation.

The Universal Day of Prayer for Students is a day for the prayerful dedication of the hearts and lives of all young people to the service of God and the furtherance of the Christian religion. It is a day for the spiritual uplift of the young generation, for the strengthening of the Christian Church, and for the promotion of world-wide brotherhood.

We urge all the Students of the World’s Christian Church Federation and all who are interested in the religious welfare of the young generation to observe this day with special devotion. Let us pray together for the welfare of the young generation, and let us strive to make this world a better place for all.

Sincerely,

A Venture of Faith.

Not far from Wolfsberg, Victoria, is a "home" which is unique, both in its surroundings and its results. It was started about 25 years ago, by two devout Czech women, mothers of the Church. The great idea and driving force in this work is Mrs. J. J. J. Pukor, who is the founder of this "home" or orphanage.

The children in the "home" come from all parts and there have been as many as 18 there at one time—possibly a much larger number. It was started on the basis of the Bible, which is the "home" rule book.

The "home" is under the care of Bishop Bsc and God has blessed the "home" and has taken the "home" children, and has given them all along; most unexpected people have given to the "home".

We are tolerant of all. We are trying to show that the spiritual Theosophical teaching is enduring, and the only way to prove its truth is by the practice of the Golden Rule, which commands the "home" children to love each other and to be kind to each other. If we can do this, and if we can prove to the world that the "home" children are happy, and that their lives are worthwhile, then we shall have shown that the "home" is a success.

A. M. Pukor.

We much regret that serious trouble has arisen between the Bishop and the C.M.A. in Victoria.

The Bishop of Adelaide, who is of the same opinion as the C.M.A., has, in a recent letter to the Archbishop of Melbourne, expressed his strong disapproval of the sale of alcoholic beverages to whomsoever may be disposed to purchase them.

The Archbishop of Melbourne, who is in full sympathy with the Bishop, has, in a letter to the Bishop, expressed his strong belief that the sale of alcoholic beverages is a thing of the past.
