The Publishers of Everyman's Encyclopaedia claim that in spite of the many other works of a similar character that are at present on the market, its new production will supply a long-felt want. Unless an Encyclopaedia is furnished with information that is up-to-date, its office as a well of knowledge is practically nil.

EVERYMAN'S ENCYCLOPAEDIA gives all the information required by the ordinary reader and student. The greatest care has been exercised in its compilation, and only the best available authorities have been consulted. There is a PRACTICAL and COMPREHENSIVE ENCYCLOPAEDIA, containing more references and articles than any other Encyclopaedia published at twice the price.

EVERYMAN'S ENCYCLOPAEDIA is one of the units of EVERYMAN'S LIBRARY, and puts into the hands of the reading public a RELIABLE and ACCURATE ENCYCLOPAEDIA, containing the fullest and latest information. It is uniform in size, binding and typography with the Library. Each Volume contains 560 pages, comprising over 500,000 words, so that the full set of twelve volumes covers more than six million words.

GOD FIRST.

In England the suggestion has been made that in connection with the National Mission there should be an effort to crystallize the results, in a pledge-card on which to be recorded the resolution to put God first in everything.

The Mission is not to aim at drawing God’s rightful place in the secret life of the individual soul, but in the public life of the nation, the life of the Church in the whole world. It must at least estimate the great ideal that shall give the Mission a name in every city and town in every part of the Empire, whether she be on the way up in God’s business or has come to be considered as the lowest rung on the ladder, and the life of her particular Church be in every individual heart.

She must have a Spirit of Christ, a principle which shall be exalted to the dominant power in the Church. To the mission there must be recognition that the “highways and byways” are not to be belittled and abandoned, that their work is equal in all the world, and that the Church must learn to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ. The Church Missionary Society must mix more freely with the people, and the work of the Church Missionary Society to be carried on with a standing witness to God and to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

The Church in Australasia.

Preparation for the Mission.

A Central Convention, in preparation for the Mission, was held in Melbourne on Monday evening, and the Archbishop gave an address on the occasion. The Reverend Mr. J. C. Sloane, who spoke on the English Church and the Mission, said that the work of the Church was not only to preach the Gospel, but to bring the Church and the world together. He pointed out that the Church in the world and the world in the Church, the Gospel and the light of the Gospel, and the life of the Church, were all equally there. The Archbishop concluded his address by reminding the Convention of the Lord’s dealings with the Church, and the need of God’s blessings upon the Church Missionary Society.

The Mothers’ Union.

The Mothers’ Union has recently been organized, and is now preparing for its first meeting. The President, Mrs. E. A. Wilson, is to address the workers on the subject of the Uniform of the Church, and the Union will meet at St. Luke’s, Burnley, for a special Address at 7.30. A. C. M. S. Conference.

A General Conference of the A.C. M. S. was held in Melbourne on Wednesday evening. The President, the Bishop, was in the chair, and the Conference opened at 6.30. Resolution was made that the Bishop’s circular letter regarding the uniform of the Church be adopted, and that the Conference be adjourned until Thursday, when their meeting would be held in the Cathedral at 7.30. A Conference of the A.C. M. S. and War Workers will be held in connection with the Conference.
