Mainly About People

The Australian Church Record is the national daily newspaper of the Anglican Church of Australia. The paper is published five times a week and is distributed to subscribing members of the church. The paper covers a wide range of topics, including local church news, national and international events, and religious and social issues.

Centenary of an historic church

The Australian Church Record is the national daily newspaper of the Anglican Church of Australia. The paper is published five times a week and is distributed to subscribing members of the church. The paper covers a wide range of topics, including local church news, national and international events, and religious and social issues.

Christians in politics

An editorial seminar has been organised by the Baptist Union of Australia and the Baptist Union of New Zealand to discuss the question: Should Christians be involved in politics? The seminar will be held in Wellington, New Zealand, on September 22, 2023, and will feature speakers from both churches.

Christian broadcasts from the Seychelles

The Seychelles Broadcasting Authority has announced the launch of a new Christian radio station, which will be broadcast on the national network. The station will feature programming from a variety of local and international sources, including the Anglican Church of Seychelles, the Catholic Church, and the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

ACC reaffirms its apartheid decision

The Australian Commonwealth Anti-Apartheid Movement (ACC) has reaffirmed its decision to support the liberation of South Africa. The ACC has been involved in the anti-apartheid movement for many years and has been a vocal advocate for the rights of the South African people.

EDITORIAL

Who are the victims?

It is not clear who the victims of the attack are. According to the media, the attack was carried out by a group of armed men who entered the school and began shooting. The exact number of victims is not known, but it is reported that several people were killed.

CONTINUED PAGE

The attack is being investigated by the police, and the situation is ongoing.
of Churches? Not that these people who do the work want looks like.

... agencies of each of the Member Churches of the NSW Council realise just how much is done by the Salvation Army and the Anglican Home Mission Society and the Social Service of the Church — social work.

... underprivileged and unevangelised people's, the General Secretary of the Bible Society in Australia, the Reverend... just how great can be the abuses of power, is shown by the modern state which is an almost ungovernable entity. It is so

... of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ by faith and not of our works or doings," says the Rev John Turner, General Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, NSW, in his fifth article in a series on Philippian.

"How easy it is for Christians to forget and sometimes even to distort this fundamental of Christian doctrine — that men and women are accepted before God only by faith in Jesus Christ and by his death and resurrection — that is the message of this series. It is the message of the whole of the New Testament, and it is the message of the Church...""
REPORT ON CHURCH CHILDREN’S WORK

A report published by the Australian Council of Churches indicates a massive decline in the number of children involved in churches.

The report claims:

- A 44 per cent fall in attendance
- A 37 per cent decline in Methodist and Presbyterian Churches

The report was prepared by the First Baptist Church and the Baptist Federation of Australia.

The report was reviewed by the Australian Council of Churches.

The report concludes that the church has failed to adapt to the changing needs of children and their families.

The report suggests that churches should:

- Offer more flexible programs
- Create more opportunities for children to participate in decision-making
- Provide more resources for children's work

The report also recommends that churches should:

- Form partnerships with other organizations
- Engage in community service projects
- Offer more opportunities for children to engage in worship and prayer

The report concludes that the church must adapt to the changing needs of children and their families in order to remain relevant.

Role of women as defined in Bible

“The Bible and the Role of Women” by Andrew Michie
Farrar, Straus and Giroux, New York, 1972

The Role of Women in the Bible is used as a recent essay about the question of “Are women equal to men?” and is also as a thesis about the “Bible and Women’s Marriages.”

The various cultural and religious influences that have shaped the Bible, including the way women are viewed from the introduction, by J. Reginald H. Brown, will be the main focus of this discussion about what the Bible defines as the role of women. Rosemary Christmas

Clarity need in Word proclamation

“Wholeness” and equality of men and women

“Women’s places” by Emily Mitchell & Mercedes V. Balm.

The authors examine the various ways in which women’s roles, relationships, and experiences are viewed and how these are interpreted in the Bible.

References to angels in the New Testament

“The Bible’s View of Angels” by A. C. Thomas, reprinted from The Church as a Mist.

Good Roads, Michigan, 1975

This little book discusses the role of angels in the Bible and their significance in the context of today’s society.

Theologian’s life, thought, teaching modeled from Bible by social injustice

“John Stott’s Theological Method” by Dr. John Stott

John Stott’s ideas about the importance of the Bible for a purposeful life and the need for doctors to think about the Bible are discussed in this book.

An innocent abroad

There are a lot of old-timers around when deceit and assassination were accepted as normal, and the general custom of the era was to be surprised.

Churches move to the new Cathedral

The move to the new Cathedral is an important step in the development of the Anglican Church in Australia.

In view of these trends, which are all too obvious to the naked eye, we must question the wisdom of our current political and economic policies.

In conclusion, the Australian Bible Society stands firm against idolatry and corruption, and firmly opposes all forms of idolatry and corruption, and firmly opposes all forms of corruption and idolatry within the Church.
